Columbus, OH
Tel: (614) 629-5719

Terri is an accomplished litigator and health care attorney with a keen understanding of how the rapidly changing regulatory and business landscape affect the industry. She advises, and when necessary defends, physicians and health care entities in professional negligence and risk prevention matters. Terri has represented institutional health care clients in high-value litigation before courts throughout Ohio, and has argued before the Ohio Supreme Court.

As a business consultant, Terri provides legal and business strategies to leading health care entities throughout the region. Clients rely on her commercial and legal acumen to navigate complex agreements that position them for growth while ensuring protection against the industry's many risks. Terri's leadership and strong relationship-building skills have continually provided both her legal and business clients with positive results throughout her career.
